

Contents

	page
An Assessment of Growth and Form for Pruning to Six Metres in Eucalyptus nitens Plantations C.L. Beadle, C.R.A. Turnbull and R. McLeod	1
Further Hydrogeological Investigations of the Mill Creek – Kansas Creek Area, Northern Tasmania K. Kiernan, R. Eberhard and C.H.C. Shannon	7
Sticky Seed Traps—A Useful Tool for Monitoring Seed Distribution During Aerial Sowing E.J. Lockett	23
Plant Species of the Cataract Gorge, Punch Bowl and Kate Reed Reserves A.V. Ratkowsky and D.A. Ratkowsky	33
Use of a Geographic Information System in the Mapping of State Forest Soils in Tasmania J.C. Grant, M.D. Laffan and R.B. Hill	51
A Methodology for Assessing and Classifying Site Productivity and Land Suitability for Eucalypt Plantations in Tasmania M.D. Laffan	61
Regeneration of Blackwood from Ground-stored Seed in the North Arthur Forests, North-western Tasmania G.J. Wilkinson and S.M. Jennings	69
Conservation of the Nesting Habitat of the Grey Goshawk (Accipiter novaehollandiae) in Tasmanian State Forests R.N. Brereton and N.J. Mooney	79
Towards a Definitive Pump-testing System G.P. Kennedy and P.J. Bennett	93
Lichens and Bryophytes of the Tasmanian World Heritage Area. II. Three Forest Sites at Pelion Plains S.J. Jarman and G. Kantvilas	103

Forestry Tasmania

GROWING OUR FUTURE

The Forestry Commission and the Forestry Department were amalgamated by the Tasmanian Parliament on 1 July 1994 to form a corporation known as Forestry Tasmania. The name Forestry Commission, Tasmania, has been used throughout this volume because the articles were provided prior to 1 July 1994.